 - a) Analytics providers such as Google based outside the EU;
 - b) Credit and reference checking agencies
 - c) Identity and Contact Data from publicly available sources such as Companies House and the Electoral Register based inside the EU.

4. How we use your personal data

We will only use your personal data for the purposes we communicate to you and when the law allows us to. Most commonly, we will use your personal data in the following circumstances:

- Where we need to perform specific actions in support of the contract we are about to enter into or have entered into with our clients, partners and third parties.
- Where it is necessary for our legitimate interests (or those of a third party) and your interests and fundamental rights do not override those interests.
- Where we need to comply with a legal or regulatory obligation.
- To inform you of relevant activities and services from Minnac and our key partners.

Generally, we do not rely on consent as a legal basis for processing your personal data other than in relation to sending third party direct marketing communications to you via email or text message. You have the right to withdraw consent to marketing at any time by contacting us at info@minnac.co.uk

Marketing

We strive to provide you with choices regarding certain personal data uses, particularly around marketing and communications.

You will receive marketing communications from us if you have requested information from us or entered into a contract for services from us or if you provided us with your details when you registered interest in one of our services and, in each case, you have not opted out of receiving that marketing.

Third-party marketing - We do not sell your personal details to third party partners for marketing purposes.

Opting out

You can ask us to stop sending you marketing communications emails at any time by following the opt-out links on any marketing or communication message sent to you or by contacting us at any time.

Where you opt out of receiving these marketing messages, this will not apply to personal data provided to us as a result of any contractual or legal relationship we have with you.

Cookies

We employ cookie technology (refer to our cookie policy) to help log visitors to our web site. Cookies are pieces of data that are often created when you visit a website, and which are stored in the cookie directory of your computer or mobile device. A number of cookies may be created when you visit the Minnac website. The cookies do not contain any personal information about you, and they cannot be used to identify an individual user.

You can set your browser to refuse all or some browser cookies, or to alert you when websites set or access cookies. If you disable or refuse cookies, please note that some of the enhanced features of this website may become inaccessible or not function properly.

Log files

When you visit this website we collect web statistics concerning your visit, which are stored in a log file. Log files allow us to record visitors' use of the site. Log files are also used to detect potential harmful users which may be reported to the relevant authorities.

5. Disclosures of your personal data

We may have to share your personal data with relevant third parties for the operation of your contract with Minnac.

We require all third parties to respect the security of your personal data and to treat it in accordance with the law. We do not allow our third-party service providers to use your personal data for their own purposes and only permit them to process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.

6. International transfers

As a Data Controller, we will not transfer your personal data outside the European Economic Area (EEA).

7. Data security

We treat the privacy and security of the personal data we hold very seriously.

We have put in place appropriate security measures to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used or accessed in an unauthorised way, altered or disclosed. In addition, we limit access to your personal data to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need to know. They will only process your personal data on our instructions and they are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected or confirmed data breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a breach where we are legally required to do so.

8. Data retention

How long will you use my personal data for?

We will only retain your personal data for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, accounting, or reporting requirements.

To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the personal data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data, the purposes for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal requirements.

In some circumstances we may anonymise your personal data (so that it can no longer be associated with you) for research or statistical purposes in which case we may use this aggregated information indefinitely without further notice to you.

9. Your legal rights

Under certain circumstances, you have rights under data protection laws in relation to your personal data. Please see these within the glossary below (link)

If you wish to exercise any of the rights set out above, please contact us

No fee usually required. You will not have to pay a fee to access your personal data (or to exercise any of the other rights). However, we reserve the right to charge a reasonable fee if we believe that your request is clearly repetitive or excessive.

Where we believe that a request is excessive, e.g. significant amounts of data are requested, we will attempt to clarify in more detail exactly what you are looking for.

Alternatively, we may refuse to comply with your request in these circumstances.

What we may need from you

We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access your personal data (or to exercise any of your other rights). This is a security measure to ensure that personal data is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it. We may also contact you to ask you for further information in relation to your request to speed up our response.

Time limit to respond

We endeavour to respond to all legitimate requests within one month. Occasionally it may take us longer than a month if your request is particularly complex or you have made a number of requests. In this case, we will notify you and keep you updated. In such cases we will respond within two months of the date we clarified your request or the fee to access the data was paid.

Your right to complain

You have the right to make a complaint at any time to the competent supervisory authority for data protection issues. In the UK, this is the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO). Contact details can be found at www.ico.org.

We would, however, appreciate the chance to understand and address your concerns before you approach the competent supervisory authority. So please contact us in the first instance.

10. Glossary

DATA SUBJECT

A living natural person, who has rights regarding their personal data and can be identified through personal identifiable information (PII).

DATA PROCESSING

The collection, storage, access, use, sharing, manipulation and deletion of personal data.

SUPERVISORY AUTHORITY

The national body that regulates the General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) in an EU member state. In the UK, the Supervisory Authority is the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO), details of which can be located at www.ico.org

LAWFUL BASIS

Legitimate Interest means the interest of our business in conducting and managing our business to enable us to give you the best service and the best and most secure experience. We make sure we consider and balance any potential impact on you (both positive and negative) and your rights before we process your personal data for our legitimate interests. We do not use your personal data for activities where our interests are overridden by the impact on you (unless we have your consent or are otherwise required or permitted to by law).

You can obtain further information about how we assess our legitimate interests against any potential impact on you in respect of specific activities by contacting us (link)

Performance of Contract means processing your data where it is necessary for the performance of a contract to which you are a party or to take steps at your request before entering into such a contract.

Comply with a legal or regulatory obligation means processing your personal data where it is necessary for compliance with a legal or regulatory obligation that we are subject to.

THIRD PARTIES

- Service providers [acting as processors] based within the EU who provide IT and system administration services
- Professional advisers [acting as processors or joint controllers] including lawyers, bankers, auditors and insurers based within the EU who provide [consultancy, banking, legal, insurance and accounting services].
- HM Revenue & Customs, regulators and other authorities [acting as processors or joint controllers] based in the United Kingdom [who require reporting of processing activities in certain circumstances].

YOUR LEGAL RIGHTS

As a Data Subject, you have the right to:

Request access to your personal data (commonly known as a "data subject access request"). This enables you to receive a copy, in an agreed machine-readable format, of the personal data we hold about you and to check that it is complete, current and we are lawfully processing it.

In certain situations, we may seek further clarification of your data access request, e.g. where the request is complex or sizeable

Request correction of the personal data that we hold about you. This enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate data we hold about you corrected, though we may need to verify the accuracy of the new data you provide to us. Also known as the right to rectification.

Request erasure of your personal data. Also commonly known as the "right to be forgotten". This enables you to ask us to delete or remove personal data where there is no good reason for us continuing to process it. You also have the right to ask us to delete or remove your personal data where you have successfully exercised your right to object to processing (see below), where we may have processed your information unlawfully or where we are required to erase your personal data to comply with local law.

Note, however, that we may not always be able to comply with your request of erasure for specific legal reasons which will be notified to you, if applicable, at the time of your request.

Object to processing of your personal data where we are relying on a legitimate interest (or those of a third party) and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground as you feel it impacts on your fundamental rights and freedoms. You also have the right to object where we are processing your personal data for direct marketing purposes. In some cases, we may demonstrate that we have compelling legitimate grounds to process your information which override your rights and freedoms.

Request restriction of processing of your personal data. This enables you to ask us to suspend the processing of your personal data in the following scenarios:

- (a) if you want us to establish the data's accuracy;
- (b) where our use of the data is unlawful but you do not want us to erase it;
- (c) where you need us to hold the data even if we no longer require it as you need it to establish, exercise or defend legal claims; or
- (d) you have objected to our use of your data but we need to verify whether we have overriding legitimate grounds to use it.

Request the transfer of your personal data to you or to a third party. We will provide to you, or a third party you have chosen, your personal data in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format.

Note that this right only applies to automated information which you initially provided consent for us to use or where we used the information to perform a contract with you.

Withdraw consent at any time where we are relying on your consent to process your personal data. However, this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before you withdraw your consent. If you withdraw your consent, we may not be able to provide certain products or services to you. We will advise you if this is the case at the time you advise us of your request to withdraw your consent.
